HISTORIES OF WARRANT PLAN CHIEFS ARE REVIEWED

Virtually All Have Long Been Busy Peddling Panaceas; "30 Every Thursday" Is Offspring Of $25 Every Monday, Started By Rob't Noble

By B. W. HORNE

(Reprinted from The San Francisco News)

LOS ANGELES—Of the Ham an' Eggs leaders who have set California on its ear, virtually all have been long busy peddling panaceas from the medicine wagon.

And as is often the experience of medicine peddlers, they have had their brushes with the law, records here disclosed today.

Willis Allen, "boss" of the Ham an' Eggs organization, tried the real patent medicine route before he tackled economic medicine. His patent medicine, Grey-Gone, was supposed to be a hair restorer. It didn't work. Federal Courts fined him $1000 and gave him probation for two years on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

His brother, Lawrence Allen, a lawyer and the "brains" behind it all, met Earle E. Kynette, along the road to Ham an' Eggs. Kynette, then a captain of police, had money. The Allens needed money. Kynette advanced $130. After he was convicted as a racketeer and bomber, Kynette sued the Allens for one-third of the Ham an' Eggs profits, which he said was promised for making the loan.

"Professor" Charles J. Husband of Southwestern University, Los Angeles, is no longer with the school and is not a professor. A former railroad man, not a college graduate, Mr. Husband learned about taxation in the office of the Los Angeles assessor.

In 1932 a Los Angeles Grand Jury indicted Mr. Husband on 10 counts of theft and kindred charges. The charges were later dismissed because of a technicality. The Grand Jury's auditor was at the meeting when the indictments were voted and because of that the courts ruled Mr. Husband could not be tried. Eventually Mr. Husband became a tax consultant and teamed up with Joey Rosenthal, political fixer for former Governor Merriam. They operated under the name Tax Research, Inc. Then Mr. Husband joined Ham an' Eggs.

Eagles Dance Saturday

Anniversary Party To Raise Funds For Tots' Xmas Festival

Preparations are completed for the anniversary dance of Placerville Aerie of Eagles, on Saturday night at the I. O. O. F. hall, and prospects promise the event will be a big success.

The merry-making will serve a dual purpose, for the aerie uses the proceeds of its anniversary dance to provide for its annual Christmas Party for the children of the county, held each year during the pre-Christmas week.

This event, usually held at the Empire Theater, has been growing from year to year and last year, according to aerie members, nine hundred and sixteen children of the county were guests of the Eagles for a welcome to Santa Claus.

With the probability that they will entertain 1,000 children this year, the Eagles are all supporting the Saturday night dance and invite their friends to join them.

Music will be by Merryman's Merry-Makers. The Merryman dance for Saturday night was cancelled by Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Merryman in a spirit of co-operation with the eagles.

There will be a balloon dance as one of the features of the evening, with noise-makers and Halloween favors for the large crowd which is expected.

Censor Approves War Dispatches

News from warring countries is subject to censorship. It may sometimes be misleading. It is the right and duty of every American citizen to do his own thinking, hold to his own beliefs, and not permit himself or his country to become a victim of emotionalism or propaganda.

"California, Here We Come"

A carload from Missouri stopped at a service station in Placerville Thursday, enroute to the fair at Treasure Island. "Have you been to the fair?" asked the attendant. "We'll be going there," was the reply, then, "Say, what about that thirty dollars every Thursday proposition? We'll would like to live in California if they're going to give you thirty dollars every Thursday."

CITY OF FLINT FATE PUZZLES

Seized Ship Sails From Murmansk For Undisclosed Nazi Port

BERLIN, (UP)—The United States steamship City of Flint is enroute to a German port and its destination is being kept secret, authorized German quarters reported today.

The future status of the vessel and its cargo will depend upon the ruling of the German prize court, meeting at Hamburg, it was officially stated.

The freighter had been seized on Monday by a German warship which put a prize crew aboard her and sailed her into Tromsø, Norway, and thence to Murmansk.

The ship is owned by the U. S. Maritime Commission and leased to the U. S. Lines.

LAURABELLE GARDNER TO WED GRASS VALLEYAN ON NOVEMBER 12th

Miss Laurabelle Gardner, who has set November 12th as the date of her marriage to William C. Partidge of Grass Valley, Nevada county, was showered with personal gifts at the party given in her honor at Sacramento recently by Miss Hilda Baer.

A supper was served after an evening of games. The decorations were in the Autumn motif.

Guests included: Mesdames Lee Owens, Helen Farrelle, Maxine Livingston, Anna Baer; Misses Donna Erbes, Norine Gorman, Anne Spera, Magdalen May, Betty Janssen, Marjorie Scoggins, Marjorie Golsong, Adeline Garbarino and Josephine Hansen.

Clinton Paul Jailed On Bench Warrant

Clinton Paul, of near Coloma, is serving five days in the county jail following his arrest on a bench warrant issued out of the court of Justice of the Peace Amy Drysdale, at Georgetown.

According to Supervisor William Breedlove, Paul was in the justice court recently in connection with a collision between his car and a county truck and was found at fault and fined $10.

His failure to pay the fine within a prescribed period of grace resulted in issuance of the bench warrant and he was ordered to jail for five days.

Homer P. Brown, of Placerville, forfeited bail of $5 recently in the Sacramento traffic court when he failed to appear to answer a charge he had violated an arterial "Stop" sign at the corner of Sixteenth and M Streets.

DOUGLAS PARSHALL, SANTA BARBARA ARTIST, finished his conception of what is in store for California should the Ham 'n' Eggs amendment be added to the Constitution of the Golden State by the November 7th election. —Voight photo.

Posses Hunt Murderess

Winnie Ruth Judd May Be Enroute To L. A. To Attempt To See Husband

PHOENIX, Ariz., (UP)—The whereabouts of Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted of the 1931 trunk murder of Agnes Ann Le Roi and Hedvig Samuelson, whose bodies she shipped to Los Angeles, remained as a mystery today as on Tuesday, when her escape from the Arizona state mental hospital was discovered.

While highways at state boundaries were closely watched, and posses followed out a number of supposed clues as to her whereabouts, it became more and more apparent that "the tiger woman" had either beaten the officers at their own game and fled the state, or was concealed in some haunt to which she had fled within a few hours after her escape.

Although a note left by the murderess at the hospital indicated the probability that she might attempt to visit her husband, a patient in a veterans' hospital near Los Angeles, a close watch kept in the vicinity had thus far failed to reveal a trace of the 34-year-old blonde whose peculiar mental quirk is of the type which fancies she is being "persecuted."

State officials scouted a theory that she might have wandered into the rural country and, perhaps, had been overcome by exhaustion.

PRELIMINARY HEARING IN ASSAULT CASE ON TUESDAY

The preliminary hearing for Bart Vandergrift, arrested in connection with an assault upon Howard Barnett at the Red Diamond Cafe in Shingle Springs last Sunday, is scheduled to be held in the court of Justice of the Peace T. F. Lewis on Tuesday morning, next, at 11 o'clock.

District Attorney Henry S. Lyon has said he will bring a felony charge in the case.

Frank Hull, Guy Wentworth and Jay Fox teamed up Friday morning for a trip to Treasure Island and a visit at Berkeley Saturday afternoon, to see the U. S. C.-California football game.

Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Moran are spending the weekend at the Bay District.

Edward Baum, charged with assault, was sentenced to ten days in jail Thursday at a hearing before Justice of the Peace W. G. Taylor, at Shingle.

Mine Operator Falls Fifty Feet And Fractures His Arm And Shoulder

Convalescent at Placerville Sanatorium, Wilbur Timm, Kelsey mine operator, confessed Friday morning that he is "still unable to figure out what happened" to cause him to fall fifty feet from a pine tree.

He got out of it with a broken shoulder, broken arm and a lacerated knee.

"I was limbing a pine tree near the house preparatory to bringing in a power line," he explained. "I had done limbing before and never had a bit of trouble. In fact, earlier in the day I was working higher than at the time I fell.

"I don't know whether my spikes slipped or what happened, but I fell and landed partly on an oil drum. Afterward, the boys measured the distance and they say I fell fifty-two or fifty-three feet.

"Probably the oil drum served to prevent more serious consequences, for there was some other junk laying in the near vicinity and if I had hit that, it might have been worse."

Mr. Timm's home is in the Kelsey district near the Alhambra-Shumway mines.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING PAGES TELL OF WAR'S CHANGES IN LIVES OF LONDON RESIDENTS WHILE HEADLINES NOTE ACTION AFIELD

By DAN CAMPBELL

United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, (UP)—Britain's change from peace to war time has been more grimly reflected in the classified pages of London newspapers than in the editorial or news columns.

Headlines abound but they tell of action in Poland, of encounters at sea and the activity on the Western Front. Reality is more nearly approached at the breakfast table by the classified ads which reflect the activity at home.

Most ominous of these is the "On Active Service" in the obituary column of the London Times. Thus far it has been brief but during the World War but Britishers know that it will grow and will be read with dread.

Once houses and apartments were advertised for their "address." Now they stress the excellence of their air raid shelters. "For rent" ads begin with the letters ARP.

Few ads appear that do not bear some relation to war. A gentleman "on war work" offers to act as caretaker of a city flat whose occupants have fled to the countryside. An old lady who has not been able to evacuate appeals for a country refuge.

An officer's wife requires another to share a furnished house. You are reminded that "tap drinking water" may be "interrupted" and are offered bottled water. Houses and cottages in Cornwall, the Isle of Man, in mid-Wales and in Ireland are in "safety areas." Few London houses or apartments appear for rent. They are not in the "safe retreat" or the "neutral area" class.

Schools which once advertised their impeccable references now are stressing their remote situation from "danger areas." Distance from London once counted as a disadvantage. In the gardening columns you may now learn how to adapt your half acre to war conditions. "Wattle hurdles three feet to six feet high" are offered for "camouflage." Expert gardeners will instruct you how to obliterate the ugly air raid shelters or trenches in your garden.

Tailors advertise the "official" nature of their uniforms. Department stores offer stretchers, air raid shelters and "wire guards for protecting windows and roof lights." One column lists "emergency addresses."

These firms have left London for the countryside.

Club announcements stress air raid precautions. Assurance is given that one may play 18 holes, tennis, croquet, badminton, ten-quoits or enjoy boating, fly casting, fishing or swimming—the last "temperature controlled" with the knowledge that "air raid shelters and special decontamination chambers" are quite handy.

Nerve tonics find prominent display space. Health foods are linked with war time strain. Dancing schools urge one to "forget" by learning to dance.

In the help wanted columns—once sadly reduced to the domestic type—a long list reflects the needs of war time industry. Many draftsmen, electric welders, aircraft fitters, tool makers and mechanics are now wanted. The commercial and business want ads reflect the numbers called up for war time services.

Appeals for aid of various kind have increased:

"A ray of light," says an advertisement in the Daily Telegraph. "These words are from a letter to the Waifs and Strays Society (one of many) from the father of two motherless children 'worrying as to what will become of them if he is killed.' Will you help our WAR EMERGENCY FUND by sending donations, however small, to the Secretary, Waifs & Strays Society."

Moon Eclipse Near Total Tonight

A near-total eclipse of the moon will be seen throughout the west tonight in those favored locations where clouds fail to obscure the view.

The eclipse will begin at 8:54 o'clock and will conclude at 12:18 o'clock in the morning, reaching the moment of greatest totality at 10:35 o'clock.

COUGARS GO TO SUTTER CREEK

Second Game Of League Schedule To Be Played Saturday Afternoon

Cougars journey to Sutter Creek high school Saturday afternoon for their second game of the high school football league schedule.

The game is called for 2:15 o'clock.

Sutter Creek has a strong team this year although their record of wins and losses is not materially better than that of the Cougars. However, the circumstance that the Thundering Herd held the strong Sonoma high school eleven to only one touchdown last week, has given Coach L. A. Brown and the Cougars an intimation that the Sutter Creek outfit will be plenty tough to handle.

Following a rather slow start, the Cougars played Jackson high school to a standstill last Saturday in their first league game of the year and although the result was a scoreless tie, the Cougars felt that the result was, in effect, a victory.

HALLOWE'EN FESTIVAL FOR CHILDREN ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of the Lions club committee on a Halloween party for the children of the community, met Thursday night and made plans for holding the observance on Tuesday evening.

H. E. Dillinger, chairman of the committee, reports that plans contemplate a costume parade forming on Main Street near the Ivy House to proceed down Main Street to Sacramento Street and thence to the city playground on Benham Street.

Tentative plans are for a bonfire there, with a playground program, perhaps including races and novelty stunts. Costume prizes for the best boy and girl costumes will be awarded and other premiums for specific doings on the evening are contemplated, the chairman said.

The committee will meet again Saturday afternoon to complete the program.

Mrs. Agnes Geoble Is Dead At Capital

Mrs. Agnes Strickline Geoble, 78, for many years a resident of the Missouri Flat section, died Thursday night at Sacramento.

A native of California, she was the wife of the late Charles Geoble. She is survived by two sons, Leland, of Porterville; and Charles E. Geoble, of Sacramento, and one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Snyder, of San Francisco; and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Shry, of Porterville. Seven grandchildren and seven great grandchildren also survive.

The funeral arrangements are being concluded in the care of the Klumpp mortuary chapel, at Sacramento.

LOS ANGELES, (UP)—Oregon State, the only Pacific Coast team with a perfect record, is saved by the schedule this Saturday from proving whether the power which brought four victories is enough to provide a chance at the conference title.

Lon Stiner's burly squad knocked off thoroughly-beaten Washington, 12-7, last week and is heavily favored to repeat Saturday against Washington State, another of the same calibre. But then its troubles begin.

With the exception of the Stanford upset, the Beavers have had the light end of the schedule and now hit stormy conference weather for four consecutive weeks. They meet Southern California's powerful squad the following Saturday and then clash with Oregon, California and U. C. L. A. and the Oregon unblemished record is in danger each game.

The rest of the conference digs in this week for heavy playing after a relaxing week of open dates or breather games.

California strikes its sternest test of the year at Berkeley against the revived Southern California Trojans. The Golden Bears face probably the coast's strongest squad and are given little chance since the Trojans are returning to action after a week's layoff.

Last Saturday, Coach Stub Allison finally needed his California squad into a 13-7 victory over the Washington State squad—its first since the opening win against Cal Aggies.

U. C. L. A. has a tough customer in Oregon with the odds even and take your pick. U. C. L. A. bowled over Montana University, 20-6, last week but the score was no indication of its strength. The first string was in the game only long enough to score three times and fleet-footed Jack Robinson never handled the ball.

Oregon still ranks near the top in coast standings with a tie against U. S. C. and victories over California and Stanford but was smooth. (Continued on Page 3)

Red Gains In China Noted

4 Northwest Provinces Being Sovietized, Says Report From Tokyo

TOKYO, (UP)—All four northwestern provinces of China—Shensi, Kansu, Ningxia and Singiang—are being Sovietized and the Chinese communist army now is moving into Shensi, the Japanese Domei news agency said today.

Domei said that the eighth route or Chinese red army—120,000 strong and led by Gen. Chu Teh, the "Red Napoleon"—is moving into Shensi from Shansi province where it has been opposing Japanese occupation.

The withdrawal, Domei said, is due partly to the success of Japanese military operations but it has been caused chiefly by the intention of the Soviets to Sovietize all of northwestern China.

Domei said that Soviet regulars now stationed in Lanchow, capital of Kansu province, total 2,000 while large quantities of arms and ammunition are being transported to Lanchow from outer Mongolia.

Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him." These words from James comprised the Golden Text used Sunday, October 22, in all Churches, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon was "Probation After Death." Included among the Scriptural selections was: "Therefore did my heart rejoice, and my tongue was glad; moreover also my flesh shall rest in hope: Because thou wilt not leave my soul in hell, neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption. Thou hast made known to me the ways of life; thou shalt make me full of joy with thy countenance." (Acts 2:26-28).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was also included: "Jesus' unchanged physical condition after what seemed to be death was followed by his exaltation above all material conditions; and this exaltation explained his ascension, and revealed unmistakably a probationary and progressive state beyond the grave" (p. 46).

Mr. Owens also had been busy in the Utopian Society which had a plan for dated money in 1934. In 1936 he got his own plan in print then in Father Divine's newspaper. He called it the "Righteous Government Act." It was a national plan under which there would be no money and no taxes. Its plan gave all individuals more than 50 years of age the right to quit working. Nothing happened and for a time Mr. Owens turned to Plentio-crack, Inc., a Chicago organization.

N. T. Porter, banking expert for Ham an' Eggs, began as a superintendent of schools in Davis county.

Mid-Week Bible Service, Thursday from 7-8 p. m. Psalm 16: God in Our Life.

Utah, in 1895. He was active in insurance, real estate and banking in Utah, in 1895. He was active in organized the National Thrift Corp., which went into receivership in 1932. Its 30,000 investors lost more than $2,300,000. That was Mr. Porter's last known venture in the banking field. Before joining Ham an' Eggs Mr. Porter worked for Governor Olson.

The $30 Thursday organization is an offspring of a $25-every Monday morning proposal which was the brainchild of Robert Noble, Los Angeles, who held real estate until he had a vision and went to a sanatorium with it. Noble got his idea from a thesis on scrap by Professor Irving Fisher of Yale University, whose name was used to promote the $25-Monday idea. Mr. Fisher disowned Noble and the $25-Monday, but that didn't stop Noble. — Noble was eventually stopped by the Captain Kynette, who was then out of jail and on the Los Angeles police force.

While the Allens and others took over Noble's organization, including his mail and contributions from followers, Captain Kynette took Noble to the calaboose. Those were the lean days of Ham an' Eggs. While Noble was in jail the Allens needed money to pay for radio time so an appeal for funds could be made to get the organization on its feet. That was when Kynette supplied the $130.

When Noble got out of jail he had no organization, no money. But he still had the $25-every-Monday morning name. The Allen organization had to have a name. Noble was still trying to promote his $25-Monday idea and was a competitor. So the $30-Thursday came into being. It was a competitive necessity. The Allens, going after the trade, went Noble $5 and three days better.

The Allens operated $30-Thursday without anything definite by way of a plan until Sherman Bainbridge, a liberal, brought Mr. Owens into the organization at $10 a week. Until then there was no exact notion just how the $30 was to be paid. Mr. Owens changed all that. He wrote the first proposal for 1938, which lost, and revised it for this year's Nov. 7 election.

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

CINCINNATI, O., (AP) — Ernie Lombardi finally has gotten up.

He no longer is stretched across home plate at Crosley Field.

With winter setting in, and the first snows only a few weeks away, the big catcher of the Cincinnati Reds has broken camp and moved to a warmer base.

Lombardi, you will recall, suddenly grew tired in the 10th inning of the final game of the world series early this month, and withdrew from it. Without a word of warning to his teammates or to the New York Yankees, he set up light-housekeeping at home plate, hung out a "please don't disturb" sign, and hibernated like the bear of a catcher he isn't.

Days passed and no word was heard from him. The fans went home. The Yankees went home. The sportswriters went home. Crosley Field was draped in crepe and locked up for the winter. Baseball was forgotten for football.

But Lombardi was not forgotten. Persons all over the country began inquiring as to his whereabouts. Was he still at home plate? Had he left there for somewhere else? Was he protected against winter's blasts? Had Powell Crosley, president of the Reds, sent him blankets and a sleeping bag? Was there a Saint Bernard dog in attendance? Was he hurt?

In short, what had become of Lombardi?

At this point this reporter entered the mystery. Despite the fact that I have won so many Pulitzer prize cups that I now use them for cereal bowls at breakfast, I interrupted my journey to Columbus for the Ohio State-Cornell game to do a bit of high class reporting. To settle the question of "Where is Lombardi?" I stopped off in this city and started sleuthing.

Soon after entering town I stopped a man in the street and asked him if he knew Lombardi. He said, "Who? I said, Lombardi, you know, the catcher. He said the only catcher he knew was Dickey."

The large drove of cattle of McCollough Brothers came down from the mountain range and passed through our town very early Monday morning. Fred Veerkamp, the Garden Valley stockman, was assisting in the drive as were several others.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed West and only daughter, Norma, accompanied by Mrs. Augusta Olin, of Chicago, and aunt of Mrs. West, drove up to Placerville from their Oakland home Friday afternoon and spent the night at Merryman's resort. They came to Lotus Saturday morning and after making a short visit here with friends, left for Bowman's resort above Auburn where they remained until Sunday morning when they returned to Oakland. Mrs. Olin intends to spend the winter months with her sister in Oakland so that she will be rid of shoveling snow during the winter at her Chicago home.

Well, the Ham and Eggs election will soon be over and I do not think our local Ham and Eggs leader will be able to have another meeting at the Community Hall in Coloma. Anyway, November 7th will decide it all.

Carl Niguel, our supervisor, was looking over the roads in his district and was a Lotus caller Tuesday last enroute to Placerville.

Frank Gallagher took a large load of lady apples to Sacramento on Thursday for some of our fruit growers here and at Coloma. There were some 250 boxes which will be sent to the San Francisco market. The lady apple crop this year is exceedingly good. We hope the prices the growers get for them this year will be as good as the crop.

Ed Sayers, the meter reader for the P. G. & E. was out from Placerville last Thursday afternoon checking up on all those in our town who have been using the company's juice for the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Nicolai, of Orville, spent a few days the past week visiting with Dudley Stevenson and also Lida Blodgett.

Loring White, fruit and vegetable inspector, came up from Sacramento Saturday evening and spent the evening with his mother, Mrs. Jessie White here. He returned to his duties early Monday morning. While Loring is stationed at the capitol city to inspect tomatoes that go to the cannery, he comes up every Saturday to visit his mother.

We neglected to mention in our last Lotus item that George Rasmussen, one of California's native sons, born in Uniontown, now Lotus, and a resident of San Francisco and bay counties for the past fifty years, reached his three score and ten mark on October 7th last. Congratulations, George, on your seventieth birthday and we wish you will live to reach the five score mark.

Dudley Freeland went down to Santa Cruz a short time ago and brought his mother, Mrs. Ida Freeland, to Lotus. She had recently returned from some two months' visit in Washington and Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Freeland will visit with her son and daughter-in-law for some time here.

Albert Mynstead, who was raised to manhood here by his aunt, Mrs. Rose Hansen, and for the past ten years, a resident of Oakland, arrived at the Hansen home from Sacramento where he has been for the past six months. He brought with him his wife and two children and they will spend some time with Aunt Rose and Uncle Alex Leonard. When Albert left here he went away single and on his return brought a wife and two children.

Perley Monroe is on his two week vacation as auditor at the state capitol but is not spending it at Coloma. Perley makes several trips up here and by doing so is spending part of his vacation here and at Sacramento.

Mr. and Mrs. William Martin came over from Placerville Monday afternoon and visited with some friends in Lotus.

Following our publication of the words of an old song, "An Old Slave's Lament," recently, we have come across another old-time song that was sung at the Lotus and Coloma Silver Minstrel Show fifty-two years ago on the night of July 5th, last. It is entitled "Barney Riley" and here are the words:

First verse: My name is Barney Riley, I've a son who sets me crazy. He's out all night until broad daylight, singing songs down in Ryan's free and easy.

Second verse: I asked him for to work, he said he was no Turk and that sort of thing didn't answer; He's a pair of wooden shoes and thinks himself immense, he's going to be a wagon song and dancer.

Third verse: He came home the other night with a pair of boxing gloves, hit his sister in the eye with a poker; With an old deck of cards and he bantered me to play seven up, sank a Pedro with a joker.

The chorus:—He's gone, he's gone, the Lord knows where; He's gone to the devil entirely; They tell me that he's looking for the lost Charley Ross, God blast his soul, Barney Riley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bowman of Four Corners entertained a group of friends at a buck dinner Thursday night. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Murphy of Oakland, Mrs. Brugge, E. D. Feil, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bacchi and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reaside.

The Grange card party at Coloma Saturday night was attended by several Lotus residents among them being Mrs. Anna Garcia, Bill Stoltz, Mrs. Lottie Galleher, Mrs. Florence Hines, Henry Bacchi, Ernest Feil and Ed Bowman, of Four Corners.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Barron were dinner guests at the Reaside home Saturday. Others present were Mrs. Lottie Galleher and Mrs. Ella Norris.

Given a beard, Jaspas McLevy would be a ringer for Abraham Lincoln.

And in Bridgeport, Conn., where he has been Socialist mayor for six years, he is regarded by thousands as a "great emancipator."

Bridgeport is an industrial city which, up to 1933, had been milked dry by both political parties and teetered on the verge of bankruptcy.

For nearly quarter of a century before that time, a gangling, rawboned Scot who made a living repairing roofs and cropped up as a perennial candidate for mayor, had been assailing "double machine" tactics in stinging street corner oratory. Few paid any attention to him.

But in 1933, when the voters rebelled against the major parties, they turned to McLevy with the despairing attitude that, "at least he can't be any worse."

A year later, when the city began to get back on its feet, he was "The Great Jaspas," "The Great Emancipator."

Everybody called him "Jaspas." He spurned an expensive city-bought automobile with two policemen for chauffeurs and rode around in a battered car. He ate in his shirt-sleeves in lunch wagons with truck drivers and ditch diggers.

Anyone could barge into his office at any time to find a sympathetic ear.

Sports Parade

So I stopped another man, a passerby. At the very mention of the Reds he pulled his overcoat collar high about his ears, put on a false mustache, and ducked into a cul-de-sac. So it went. No one in Cincinnati wanted to talk about the Reds. Mention them and the citizens quickly switched to the best cure for sore ears in hunting dogs, the eventual height of women's skirts, and how much did Hitler really fear Stalin.

So, strictly on my own, I made my way to Crosley Field. Only a few weeks ago it was packed with thousands of excited persons. Now it was dark as the inside of a black bear, and deserted as the last rat on a sinking ship. I undid my flash light, slid on my sneakers, and crawled carefully toward home plate.

FALL SHOES $1.00 values to $3.95. Wash dresses 50c—values to $1.95. Wudell's Women's Shoppe.

Nearing it, I cried out: "Ernie Lombardi! It's a friend."

There was no answer.

I turned by torch squarely on the place where the Reds catcher had staked out his claim, and it was bare. Bare of Lombardi, that is. Signs that he had lived there for days still existed. There was a small kerosene stove. Scraps of bread were scattered halfway to the pitchers' box. A note in a milk bottle read "See you next season—maybe."

Torn and illegible pages of a diary were scattered about the plate. . . .

Piecing these together as best I could I made out something like this: "DiMaggio—Lawdy—home runs we're giving out—what's the use—I'm sleepy—Dickey—Keller—help—next year—No, not next year, Keller—Dickey—Ruffing—Gordon—Gordon—Lawdy—I'm tired . . ."

I wrapped up the scraps of paper and mailed them to Ford Frick.

regardless of political creed—"the best man for the job."

He installed a municipal civil service system.

He forced contractors to his price under threat of municipal ownership. Taxes went down, governmental costs went down and there was a surplus account, for the first time in years.

Manufacturers who threatened to move out of the city if he were elected, supported him for re-election for two more terms.

His policies elected Socialists to the legislature for the first time in history.

Then, in 1938, he made his ninth try for the governorship with the same old platform.

He lacked only a few thousand votes of victory, but in his defeat he changed the entire state administration and brought about four replacements in Congress.

"I have never sought office for the office itself, but to accomplish the principles of good government and a higher social system," was the way he explained his political aspirations.

"The people want good government, honest government, but how often do they get it? The double machine is a political weapon of corruption for the gains of a selfish few. There's nothing miraculous in giving the people what they want. It's just plain common sense and honesty."

Jasper is 56, married and looking forward to another term and later, another try for the governorship.
